TEXT 1 QA

PAPER 1

SECTION I – COMPREHENDING (100 marks)

GENERAL

"This paper will be specifically aimed at testing the comprehending and composing abilities of students." (DES English Syllabus, 7.3)

Candidates must answer a Question A on one text and a Question B on a different text.
N.B. Candidates may NOT answer a Question A and a Question B on the same text.

Please note that, in relation to all texts, the candidates may take the introductions and accompanying illustrations to be integral parts of the texts.

TEXT 1 – TELLING OTHER PEOPLE'S STORIES

QUESTION A – 50 Marks

(i) Based on your reading of TEXT 1, explain three insights you gain into Kit de Waal's perspective on telling other people's stories. Support your explanation with reference to the text. (15)

Candidates should explain three insights they gain into Kit de Waal's perspective on telling other people's stories. Pay attention to the quality of the explanation, which should be supported with reference to the text.

Mark ex 15 by reference to the criteria for assessment.

Indicative material:

- Kit de Waal believes that telling other people's stories is a legitimate literary pursuit, which must involve self-examination/reflection
- in her opinion, writers should have the freedom to inhabit other lives and to explore the full range of their imagination and ability
- she regards telling other people's stories as a literary necessity, without which fictional writing would be impoverished as imagination is a necessary ingredient
- she believes that writers must be respectful when telling a story from the perspective of another person, they must do no harm when telling other people's stories, and should not "dip their pen in other people's blood"; she says there is always an obligation to be "authentic, sympathetic and true"
- De Waal maintains that a delicate balance must be struck between cultural appropriation and artistic license, especially if writing from the perspective of a character from a different culture Etc.

H1	H2	H3	H4	H5	H6	H7	H8
15 - 14	12	11	9	8	6	5	4 - 0

(ii) We can engage with other people's fictional stories in different ways. Explain the reasons why you prefer to engage with other people's fictional stories through novels or plays or films. (15)

Candidates should explain at least two reasons why they prefer to engage with other people's fictional stories through novels or plays or films. Candidates may refer to novels, plays and films in a comparative fashion. Pay attention to the quality of the explanation, allowing for a wide variety of responses.

Mark ex 15 by reference to the criteria for assessment.

Indicative material:
Novels: allow the reader to dip in and out; provide freedom to interpret characters, imagine settings, etc.; can open a world of pure imagination; the writing style may be witty/entertaining/amusing/ gripping etc.; it is possible to read a number of texts by a favourite author; can be enjoyed anywhere, at one's own pace, can build into a personal collection/ library Etc.
Plays: theatre-goers can enjoy the theatrical "occasion"; may be interested in set design/costumes /lighting etc.; may enjoy the communal dimension of being part of an audience; may be interested in the director's/actors' interpretation of texts/role Etc.
Film: may be interested in various aspects of cinematography; may enjoy the soundtrack/special effects; it is possible to follow particular directors/actors; enjoy the "cinema" experience – the smell of popcorn, the trailers for upcoming films, the communal dimension of being part of an audience etc.; can be easily accessed at home via streaming services Etc.

H1	H2	H3	H4	H5	H6	H7	H8
15 - 14	12	11	9	8	6	5	4 - 0

(iii) Identify four features of the writing style, evident in TEXT 1, and discuss how effectively these stylistic features are employed to provide both an engaging and thought-provoking exploration of the issues raised. Support your answer with reference to TEXT 1. (20)

Candidates should identify four features of the writing style, evident in TEXT 1, and discuss how effectively these stylistic features are employed to provide both an engaging and thought-provoking exploration of the issues raised. Pay attention to the quality of the discussion provided and the extent to which there is an awareness that language use has an impact. Responses should be supported with reference to TEXT 1.

Mark ex 20 by reference to the criteria for assessment.

Indicative material:
- the writer makes effective use of rhetorical questions, which contributes to the thought-provoking/ engaging nature of the text
- De Waal's provocative use of allusions and diverse frame of reference – various authors and texts – is engaging/thought-provoking
- the use of accessible language/varying sentence length/effective use of listing and repetition/pithy sentences, helps to make the text engaging
- the inclusive use of "we", enhances our engagement with the issues raised
- the writer's reasonable and measured tone, and her avoidance of didacticism and hectoring, encourages thoughtful engagement by readers
- the inclusion of brief personal reference adds intimacy which promotes our engagement Etc.

H1	H2	H3	H4	H5	H6	H7	H8
20 - 18	16	14	12	10	8	6	5 - 0

TEXT 1 QB

QUESTION B – 50 Marks

You have been asked to write an introduction to a collection of fictional and non-fictional writing called Other People's Stories. The book includes a selection of short stories, personal essays, novel extracts and interviews. In your introduction you should: explain why you find the mix of fictional and non-fictional writing in the text attractive, discuss the value you see in engaging with other people's stories through reading, and explain why you would recommend this particular collection to readers.

Candidates should write an introduction to a collection of fictional and non-fictional writing called Other People's Stories, which includes a selection of short stories, personal essays, novel extracts and interviews. In their introductions candidates should: explain why they find the mix of fictional and non-fictional writing in the text attractive, discuss the value they see in engaging with other people's stories through reading, and explain they you would recommend this particular collection to readers. Allow for a wide variety of responses.

Candidates should engage with all aspects of the question, although not necessarily equally.

Mark ex 50 by reference to the criteria for assessment.

P: Understanding of genre and register - an introduction suitable for a collection of fictional and non-fictional writing called Other People's Stories, which includes a selection of short stories, personal essays, novel extracts and interviews. The register may be formal or informal but should be appropriate to the task.
Relevance
Focus on all aspects of the question – explaining why they find the mix of fictional and non-fictional writing in the text attractive, discuss the value they see in engaging with other people's stories through reading, and explain they you would recommend this particular collection to readers.
Freshness and originality, etc.

C: Sustained focus
Continued control of register
Management and sequencing of ideas, etc.

L: Language managed and controlled to achieve clear communication
Quality of expression, style, fluency, etc.

M: Accuracy of mechanics Etc.

P 15
C 15
L 15
M 5

50 marks	H1	H2	H3	H4	H5	H6	H7	H8
	50 - 45	44 - 40	39 - 35	34 - 30	29 - 25	24 - 20	19 - 15	14 - 0
30%	15 -14	12	11	9	8	6	5	4 - 0
10%	5	4	3	3	2	2	1	1 - 0

TEXT 2 – SHUGGIE'S STORY

QUESTION A – 50 Marks

(i) Based on your reading of TEXT 2, explain three insights you gain into the struggles in Shuggie Bain's life. Support your explanation with reference to the text. (15)

Candidates should explain three insights they gain into the struggles in Shuggie Bain's life. Pay attention to the quality of the explanation, which should be supported with reference to the text.

Mark ex 15 by reference to the criteria for assessment.

Indicative material:

- Shuggie struggles because his life is empty/difficult/impoverished/limited/unhappy; he thinks only of tomorrow, he finds comfort in hopes/dreams/daydreams, although his reality falls short of his dreams
- he struggles in his working life – hating his unpleasant, poorly paid job in the supermarket
- he harbours resentment towards the customers, his unreliable workmates and his parsimonious boss
- he faces challenges in his personal life; he has to feed himself and pay his own rent, his schooling is patchy
- he lacks confidence, keenly feeling his low social status; he believes he is not good enough to attend the hairdressing college Etc.

H1	H2	H3	H4	H5	H6	H7	H8
15 - 14	12	11	9	8	6	5	4 - 0

(ii) We can engage with other people's fictional stories in different ways. Explain the reasons why you prefer to engage with other people's fictional stories through novels or plays or films. (15)

Candidates should explain at least two reasons why they prefer to engage with other people's fictional stories through novels or plays or films. Candidates may refer to novels, plays and films in a comparative fashion. Pay attention to the quality of the explanation, allowing for a wide variety of responses.

Mark ex 15 by reference to the criteria for assessment.

Indicative material:

Novels: allow the reader to dip in and out; provide freedom to interpret characters, imagine settings, etc.; can open a world of pure imagination; the writing style may be witty/entertaining/ amusing, gripping etc.; it is possible to enjoy a number of texts by a favourite author; can be enjoyed anywhere, at one's own pace; can build into a personal collection/library Etc.

Plays: theatre-goers can enjoy the theatrical "occasion"; may be interested in set design/ costumes/ lighting etc.; may enjoy the communal dimension of being part of an audience; may be interested in the director's/actors' interpretation of texts/roles Etc.

Film: may be interested in various aspects of cinematography; may enjoy the soundtrack/special effects; it is possible to follow particular directors/actors; enjoy the "cinema" experience – the smell of popcorn, the trailers for upcoming films, the communal dimension of being part of an audience etc.; can be easily accessed at home via streaming services Etc.

H1	H2	H3	H4	H5	H6	H7	H8
15 - 14	12	11	9	8	6	5	4 - 0

TEXT 2 QA (contd.)

(iii) Identify four features of the writing style, evident in TEXT 2, and discuss how these stylistic features contribute to making the above text both a realistic and an evocative portrayal of Shuggie's story. Support your answer with reference to TEXT 2. (20)

Candidates should Identify four features of the writing style, evident in TEXT 2, and discuss how these stylistic features contribute to making the above text both a realistic and an evocative portrayal of Shuggie's story. Pay attention to the quality of the discussion provided and the extent to which there is an awareness that language use has an impact. Responses should be supported with reference to TEXT 2.

Mark ex 20 by reference to the criteria for assessment.

Indicative material:

- the use of vivid/cinematic/detailed description and the effective use of imagery, including the apt use of adjectives, lends an evocative quality and a striking realism to the portrayal of Shuggie's story
- effective use of colloquial/everyday language adds to the realism of the text; pithy sentences are evocative of mood/atmosphere
- deploying Shuggie's distinctive personal voice; sharing his thoughts/internal monologue; the effective development of his character, etc. contribute to the evocative/realistic nature of his portrayal
- the sensual quality of the writing provides readers with a very real sense of Shuggie's unpleasant working conditions; the dark undertones are evocative
- the sad/poignant tone is evocative; the pragmatic/conversational tone lends realism
- the unsentimental/darkly humorous depiction of Shuggie and his story adds realism to its portrayal Etc.

H1	H2	H3	H4	H5	H6	H7	H8
20 - 18	16	14	12	10	8	6	5 - 0

TEXT 2 QB

QUESTION B – 50 Marks

Every year your former school produces a Careers Handbook. As well as information and advice on courses and careers, the handbook features articles by former students who have followed interesting or unusual career paths. It is 2043, and you have been invited to submit an article on your journey through the world of work for the Careers Handbook. In your article you should: explain what inspired or motivated you to follow your particular career path, outline some of the challenges and set-backs you overcame and reflect on what you have learned about yourself in the process.

Candidates should assume that it is 2043 and write an article suitable for publication in their former school's Careers Handbook. In their article they should: explain what inspired or motivated them to follow their particular career path, outline some of the challenges and set-backs they overcame and reflect on what they have learned about themselves in the process. Allow for a wide variety of responses.

Candidates should engage with all aspects of the question, although not necessarily equally.

Mark ex 50 by reference to the criteria for assessment using the following breakdown of marks.

P: Understanding of genre and register – an article suitable for publication in their former school's Careers Handbook, aimed at an audience of senior cycle students. The register may be formal or informal
Relevance
Focus on all aspects of the question – candidates should explain what inspired or motivated them to follow their particular career path, outline some of the challenges and set-backs they overcame and reflect on what they have learned about themselves in the process
Freshness and originality, etc.

C: Sustained focus
Continued control of register
Management and sequencing of ideas, etc.

L: Language managed and controlled to achieve clear communication
Quality of expression, style, fluency, etc.

M: Accuracy of mechanics Etc.

P 15
C 15
L 15
M 5

50 marks	H1	H2	H3	H4	H5	H6	H7	H8
	50 - 45	44 - 40	39 - 35	34 - 30	29 - 25	24 - 20	19 - 15	14 - 0
30%	15 -14	12	11	9	8	6	5	4 - 0
10%	5	4	3	3	2	2	1	1 - 0

TEXT 3 QA

TEXT 3 – THE STORY OF ANOTHER LIFE

QUESTION A – 50 Marks

(i) Based on your reading of TEXT 3, explain three reasons why the above article, written in 1977, is still current in its content and philosophy in 2023. Support your explanation with reference to the text. (15)

Candidates should explain three reasons why the above article, written in 1977, is still current in its content and philosophy in 2023. Pay attention to the quality of the explanation, which should be supported with reference to the text.

Mark ex 15 by reference to the criteria for assessment.

Indicative material:

- the desire to live in a self-sufficient, sustainable way, aspiring to balance the mental and physical dimensions of life, as well as achieving a work/life balance, are life-goals for many people in 2023
- a philosophy that promotes environmental awareness; opposition to wasteful practices; living in harmony with nature; playing an active part in one's community and adopting a healthy lifestyle is very contemporary
- the world faces an energy crisis and environmental challenges in 2023, as it did in 1977
- many of the lifestyle choices referenced in the text including; remote working; adherence to a "green" agenda and engagement with social protest movements, are now common practice
- the use of renewable energy and alternative technologies in our daily lives is a reality in 2023

H1	H2	H3	H4	H5	H6	H7	H8
15 - 14	12	11	9	8	6	5	4 - 0

(ii) We can engage with other people's true stories in different ways. Explain the reasons why you prefer to engage with other people's non-fictional stories through biographies or memoirs or documentary films. (15)

Candidates should explain at least two reasons reasons why they prefer to engage with other people's non-fictional stories through biographies or memoirs or documentary films. Candidates may refer to biographies or memoirs or documentary films in a comparative fashion. Pay attention to the quality of the explanation, allowing for a wide variety of responses.

Mark ex 15 by reference to the criteria for assessment.

Indicative material:

Biographies: may provide interesting insights/observations; contain information/images not previously available; can be enjoyed at one's own pace; can build into a personal collection/ library; the writing style may be witty/amusing/entertaining Etc.

Memoirs: a writer's reflections on/insights into their own life experiences may fascinate; may contain private images/information not otherwise available; may reveal the writer's innermost views, opinions; the writing style may be attractive; can be enjoyed at one's own pace; can build into a personal collection/library Etc.

Documentary films: the cinematographic elements can be enjoyable; the visual medium can bring the person's story to life; may include previously unreleased footage; can be easily accessed at home via DVD/streaming services, or may provide the communal dimension of being part of an audience; may include revealing interviews with the subject, their friends, family Etc.

H1	H2	H3	H4	H5	H6	H7	H8
15 - 14	12	11	9	8	6	5	4 - 0

(iii) Identify four features of the writing style, evident in TEXT 3, and discuss how these stylistic features may have helped to give Michael Viney's weekly newspaper column an enduring appeal. Support your answer with reference to TEXT 3. (20)

Candidates should identify four features of the writing style, evident in TEXT 3, and discuss how these stylistic features may have helped to give Michael Viney's weekly newspaper column an enduring appeal. Pay attention to the quality of the discussion provided and the extent to which there is an awareness that language use has an impact. Responses should be supported with reference to TEXT 3.

Mark ex 20 by reference to the criteria for assessment.

Indicative material:

- authentic autobiographical elements including the use of first person/strong personal voice and engaging anecdotes, have enduring appeal
- an appealing/lucid descriptive style, including an effective use of vivid imagery/personification /verbs/adjectives, makes the writing timeless and engaging
- the writer's attractive turn of phrase and conversational tone are charming
- the use of humorous touches adds to the enduring appeal of the writing
- readers are offered a timelessly compelling combination of narrative, reflection and social commentary
- "teasing" the following week's article creates a sense of anticipation for future columns

H1	H2	H3	H4	H5	H6	H7	H8
20 - 18	16	14	12	10	8	6	5 - 0

TEXT 3 QB

QUESTION B – 50 Marks

Imagine you are a teenage member of a family who move from Dublin to live a self-sufficient lifestyle in rural Ireland. You decide to write a blog in which you share this experience. Write three blog posts: the first on the night before you leave Dublin in which you reflect on what you are leaving behind and the changes ahead, the second after a month in your new home as you struggle to adjust, and the third in which you share your thoughts and feelings after a year of living in a rural area.

Candidates should imagine they are a teenage member of a family who move from Dublin to live a self-sufficient lifestyle in rural Ireland. They should write three blog posts; the first on the night before they leave Dublin in which they reflect on what they are leaving behind and the changes ahead, the second after a month in their new home as they struggle to adjust, and the third in which they share their thoughts and feelings after a year of living in a rural area.
Allow for a wide variety of responses.

Candidates should engage with all aspects of the question, although not necessarily equally.

Mark ex 50 by reference to the criteria for assessment using the following breakdown of marks.

P: Understanding of genre and register – three blog posts, suitable for publication online, aimed at a wide and diverse audience. The register may be formal or informal
Focus on all aspects of the question – imagining they are a teenage member of a family who move from Dublin to live a self-sufficient lifestyle in rural Ireland, candidates should write three blog posts: the first on the night before they leave Dublin in which they reflect on what they are leaving behind and the changes ahead, the second after a month in their new home as they struggle to adjust, and the third in which they share their thoughts and feelings after a year of living in a rural area
Relevance
Freshness and originality, etc.

C: Sustained focus
Continued control of tone and register
Management and sequencing of ideas, etc.

L: Language managed and controlled to achieve clear communication
Quality of expression, style, fluency, etc.

M: Accuracy of mechanics Etc.

P 15
C 15
L 15
M 5

50 marks	H1	H2	H3	H4	H5	H6	H7	H8
	50 - 45	44 - 40	39 - 35	34 - 30	29 - 25	24 - 20	19 - 15	14 - 0
30%	15 -14	12	11	9	8	6	5	4 - 0
10%	5	4	3	3	2	2	1	1 - 0

SECTION II – COMPOSING (100 marks)

GENERAL

The composition assignments (in bold print below) are intended to reflect language study in the areas of information, argument, persuasion, narration, and the aesthetic use of language.

N.B. "The general functions of language outlined here will continually mix and mingle within texts and genres. So, there can be an aesthetic argument, a persuasive narrative, or an informative play." (DES English Syllabus, 2.5)

The composition titles refer back to individual texts. However, the examination paper itself is constructed around a single theme and all the texts on the paper are intended to be a resource for the candidates. Therefore, even though a composition title is linked to one of the texts, in shaping their compositions candidates are free to refer to, quote from, or draw ideas from any or all of the texts and their accompanying illustrations.

Candidates may refer formally to the text to which the composition is linked or they may complete the composition assignment with reference to their own store of knowledge/reference/experience.

In the event that a question or doubt arises as to the relevance of material or the approach adopted by the candidate you should consult your Advising Examiner.

Candidates should write a composition on any one of the composing assignments provided.

COMPOSING 1

1. In TEXT 2, we see Shuggie Bain abandon his dream to become a hairdresser.

Write an inspirational speech, to be delivered at a national youth event, on the transformative power of dreams both for individuals and for entire communities.

Candidates should write an inspirational speech on the transformative power of dreams both for individuals and for entire communities. The speech should be suitable for delivery at an international youth event,

Mark ex 100 by reference to the criteria for assessment.

P: Focus – an inspirational speech, on the transformative power of dreams both for individuals and for entire communities.
Understanding of genre – the effective use of some elements of speech-writing e.g. use of references, rhetorical language, anecdotes, imagery, illustrations, emotive/inclusive language, awareness of audience –the speech should be suitable for delivery to an audience of young people, the register may be formal or informal, etc.
Relevance
Originality and freshness, etc.

C: The extent to which the speech is successfully shaped, developed and sustained, sequencing and management of ideas, etc.

L: Quality and control of language e.g. style, vocabulary, syntax, punctuation, etc.

M: Accuracy of mechanics Etc.

P 30
C 30
L 30
M10

	H1	H2	H3	H4	H5	H6	H7	H8
100%	100 - 90	89 - 80	79 - 70	69 - 60	59 - 50	49 - 40	39 - 30	29 - 0
30%	30 - 27	24	21	18	15	12	9	8 - 0
10%	10 - 9	8	7	6	5	4	3	2 - 0

COMPOSING 3

3. In TEXT 2, we find Shuggie Bain working in a supermarket.

Write a short story, set in a fictitious supermarket, in which at least one of the employees is involved in ongoing tension with both the manager and the customers.

Candidates should write a short story, set in a fictitious supermarket, in which at least one of the employees is involved in ongoing tension with both the manager and the customers.

Mark ex 100 by reference to the criteria for assessment.

P: Focus – a short story set in a fictitious supermarket, in which at least one of the employees is involved in ongoing tension with both the manager and the customers.
Understanding of genre – the effective use of some elements of the short story e.g. narrative shape, setting, plot, characterisation, suggestion, atmosphere, dialogue, tension, narrative voice, resolution, etc.
Relevance
Originality and freshness, etc.

C: The extent to which the narrative approach is successfully shaped, developed and sustained, sequencing and management of ideas, etc.

L: Quality and control of language e.g. style, clarity, vocabulary, syntax, punctuation, etc.

M: Accuracy of mechanics Etc.

P 30
C 30
L 30
M10

	H1	H2	H3	H4	H5	H6	H7	H8
100%	100 - 90	89 - 80	79 - 70	69 - 60	59 - 50	49 - 40	39 - 30	29 - 0
30%	30 - 27	24	21	18	15	12	9	8 - 0
10%	10 - 9	8	7	6	5	4	3	2 - 0

COMPOSING 4

4. In TEXT 2, Shuggie, like many young people, has a part-time job that fits around his schooling.

Write a personal essay in which you reflect on the appropriate balance in life between work and leisure and evaluate your own lifestyle in this respect.

Candidates should write a personal essay in which they reflect on the appropriate balance in life between work and leisure and evaluate their own lifestyle in this respect. Pay particular attention to the quality of the reflection.

Mark ex 100 by reference to the criteria for assessment.

P: Focus – a personal essay in which they reflect on the appropriate balance in life between work and leisure and evaluate their own lifestyle in this respect
Understanding of genre– the effective use of some elements of personal writing e.g. written in the first person, reflective tone, use of authentic personal voice, personal anecdotes/ observations, revealing personal insights, etc.
Relevance
Originality and freshness, etc.

C: The extent to which the personal approach is successfully shaped, developed and sustained, sequencing and management of ideas, etc.

L: Quality and control of language e.g. style, clarity, vocabulary, syntax, punctuation, etc.

M: Accuracy of mechanics Etc.

P 30
C 30
L 30
M10

	H1	H2	H3	H4	H5	H6	H7	H8
100%	100 - 90	89 - 80	79 - 70	69 - 60	59 - 50	49 - 40	39 - 30	29 - 0
30%	30 - 27	24	21	18	15	12	9	8 - 0
10%	10 - 9	8	7	6	5	4	3	2 - 0

COMPOSING 5

5. In TEXT 3, we learn Michael Viney's thoughts on pursuing a self-sufficient lifestyle.

Write a discursive essay in which you consider some of the lifestyle choices you believe to be environmentally ethical and appropriate in 2023.

Candidates should write a discursive essay in which they consider some of the lifestyle choices they believe to be environmentally ethical and appropriate in 2023.

Mark ex 100 by reference to the criteria for assessment.

P: Focus – a discursive essay in which they consider some of the lifestyle choices they believe to be environmentally ethical and appropriate in 2023
Understanding of genre – the effective use of some elements of discursive writing e.g. use of factual information, references, arguments and counter-arguments, consideration of a variety of views, opinions and personal experiences, illustrations, allusions, analysis, etc.
Relevance
Originality and freshness, etc.

C: The extent to which the discussion is successfully shaped, developed and sustained, sequencing and management of ideas, etc.

L: Quality and control of language e.g. style, clarity, vocabulary, syntax, punctuation, etc.

M: Accuracy of mechanics Etc.

P 30
C 30
L 30
M10

	H1	H2	H3	H4	H5	H6	H7	H8
100%	100 - 90	89 - 80	79 - 70	69 - 60	59 - 50	49 - 40	39 - 30	29 - 0
30%	30 - 27	24	21	18	15	12	9	8 - 0
10%	10 - 9	8	7	6	5	4	3	2 - 0

COMPOSING 6

6. In TEXT 1, Kit de Waal poses the question, "Was there ever any worse advice than write what you know?".

Write a personal essay in which you reflect on some of the worst advice you were ever given. Your essay may be serious or humorous or both.

Candidates should write a personal essay in which they reflect on some of the worst advice they were ever given. Your essay may be serious or humorous or both.

Mark ex 100 by reference to the criteria for assessment.

P: Focus – a personal essay in which the candidates reflect on some of the worst advice they were ever given
Understanding of genre – the effective use of some elements of personal writing e.g. written in the first person, reflective insights, confessional tone, individual observation(s), use of personal anecdotes, etc.
Relevance
Originality and freshness, etc.

C: The extent to which the personal approach is successfully shaped, developed and sustained sequencing and management of ideas, etc.

L: Quality and control of language e.g. style, vocabulary, syntax, punctuation, etc.

M: Accuracy of mechanics Etc.

P 30
C 30
L 30
M10

	H1	H2	H3	H4	H5	H6	H7	H8
100%	100 - 90	89 - 80	79 - 70	69 - 60	59 - 50	49 - 40	39 - 30	29 - 0
30%	30 - 27	24	21	18	15	12	9	8 - 0
10%	10 - 9	8	7	6	5	4	3	2 - 0