PAPER 2

SECTION 1 – THE SINGLE TEXT (60 marks)

Note 1 – RESPONDING TO DRAMATIC TEXTS

In attempting questions set on dramatic texts, candidates are free to support the points they make by reference to performances of the texts that they have seen.

MACBETH[1] (i)

C Macbeth – William Shakespeare

(i) Identify what you believe to be the three most important choices or decisions Macbeth makes. Discuss why you believe these choices or decisions are important and the insights you gain into various aspects of Macbeth's character from them. You may refer to any combination of choices or decisions. Develop your discussion with reference to Shakespeare's play, Macbeth.

Candidates should identify what they believe to be the three most important choices or decisions Macbeth makes. They may refer to any combination of choices or decisions. They should discuss why they believe these choices or decisions are important and the insights they gain into various aspects of Macbeth's character from them.
Pay particular attention to the quality of the discussion and the development of the response, including the effective use of apt reference to the text.

Mark ex 60 by reference to the criteria for assessment, using the breakdown of marks below.

P: Focus/relevance of response/well chosen, compelling points/originality of thought/evidence of critical literacy, etc.
C: Sustained focus/appropriate management and sequencing of ideas/coherence/points effectively substantiated/apt use of examples, references and quotations, key moments, effective engagement with the text, etc.
L: Language managed and controlled to achieve clear communication throughout/ fluency quality of expression, etc.
M: Accuracy of mechanics Etc.

Code D for discussion of the importance of three choices or decisions Macbeth makes
I for insights gained into various aspects of Macbeth's character from the three choices or decisions identified

Indicative material:
- reasons why Macbeth's choices or decisions are important include: the development of his character and/or relationships; the advancement/development of the plot; their impact on other characters/thematic concerns, the conclusion/resolution of the play, etc.
- we gain insight into Macbeth's ambitious/tragic nature from his important choices/decisions
- Macbeth's sense of insecurity/paradoxical nature is evident in some of his important choices/decisions
- his duality (ruthlessness/conscience-stricken) can be seen in some of his choices/decisions
- we gain insight into the more reflective/philosophical/courageous aspects of his character from some of his final important choices/decisions Etc.

(ii) Identify aspects of Shakespeare's play, Macbeth, that, in your opinion, lead us to draw disturbing conclusions about evil. Discuss the disturbing conclusions that may be drawn about this subject from the aspects of the play you have identified. Support your answer with reference to the text.

Candidates should identify at least two aspects of Shakespeare's play, Macbeth, that, in their opinion, lead us to draw disturbing conclusions about evil. They should discuss the disturbing conclusions that may be drawn about this subject from the aspects of the play they have identified. Answers should be supported with reference to the text.

Pay particular attention to the quality of the discussion and the development of the response, including the effective use of apt reference to the text.

Mark ex 60 by reference to the criteria for assessment, using the breakdown of marks below.

P: Focus/relevance of response/well-chosen, compelling points/originality of thought/ evidence of critical literacy, etc.

C: Sustained focus/appropriate management and sequencing of ideas/coherence/points effectively substantiated/apt use of examples, references and quotations, key moments, effective engagement with the text, etc.

L: Language managed and controlled to achieve clear communication throughout/fluency/ quality of expression, etc.

M: Accuracy of mechanics Etc.

Code A for aspects of Shakespeare's play, Macbeth, that lead us to draw a variety of disturbing conclusions about evil

D for discussion of the disturbing conclusions about evil that may be drawn from the aspects of the play identified

Indicative material – Aspects of the play that lead us to draw disturbing conclusions about evil include:

- developments in the plot/actions/events demonstrate the indiscriminate nature of evil, that evil can beget evil, that evil can affect a broad spectrum of victims, including innocents
- the language (inc. imagery), used to describe evil deeds/evil doers, creates a foreboding/ menacing atmosphere, leads us to draw a variety of disturbing conclusions about the essence of evil and its contaminating effects
- hallucinations, such as Macbeth's visions of daggers/ghosts and Lady Macbeth's handwashing while sleepwalking, suggest how evil corrupts the human body/mind/spirit
- characterisation suggests that both men and women are equally capable of evil; that it thrives on innate aspects of the human condition such as ambition, greed, deceitfulness, etc.
- the play's conclusion leads us to appreciate the existential/enduring nature of evil as the witches (the embodiment of evil) are not defeated Etc.

THE COMPARATIVE STUDY

SECTION II – THE COMPARATIVE STUDY (70 marks)

Candidates must answer one question from either A – Literary Genre, B – Theme or Issue or C – General Vision and Viewpoint.

Candidates may not answer on the text they have included in SECTION 1 – The Single Text.

GENERAL

In all answers to questions in this section, candidates may compare and/or contrast, i.e. address similarities and/or differences in both the content and style of their chosen texts.

In shaping their responses to the questions set on the Comparative Study, it is expected that candidates will be involved in some/all of the following kinds of activities:

- Description/analysis of the text/s in the light of the modes for comparison
- Making general observations about texts in relation to each other
- Making connections between similar aspects of texts
- Recognising differences between texts
- Showing that similarities/differences need to be qualified
- Demonstrating awareness of themselves as readers, their reactions/responses/ involvement.

Expect a wide variety of approaches both in the patterns of discussion and the manner of illustration.

In all answers in this section, candidates may refer to one/more key moment/s from the text/s. The purpose of this is to allow the candidates to ground their responses in specific moments without feeling that they must range over the entire text/s. However, do not expect that all the illustrative reference in an answer will come from the key moment/s. Candidates may offer appropriate illustrative reference from any part of the text/s.

Candidates should reference the required combination of texts specified in the questions.

2. Compare how the authors of at least two texts on your comparative course create a compelling narrative in each of these texts. Develop your response with reference to your chosen texts. (70)

Expect candidates to compare how the authors of at least two comparative texts create a compelling narrative in each of these texts. Responses should be developed with reference to at least two texts.
Pay particular attention to the quality of the comparative element and the development of the response, including the effective use of apt reference to the texts.

Mark ex 70 by reference to the criteria for assessment using the breakdown of marks below.

P: Focus and relevance, evidence of critical literacy

In awarding marks for P, consider the following:
- evidence of understanding of the mode Literary Genre
- focus* on: how the authors of at least two comparative texts create a compelling narrative
- evidence of effective comparison within the mode Literary Genre

C: Sustained focus & relevance/appropriate management and sequencing of ideas/coherence/ sustained comparative focus /apt use of examples, engagement with texts, etc.
L: Language managed and controlled to achieve clear communication throughout/fluency quality of expression, use of comparative language, etc.
M: Accuracy of mechanics Etc.

Indicative material: a compelling narrative may be created through the effective use of:
- characterisation; strong protagonist/antagonist; fascinating relationships, etc.
- gripping scenarios/fascinating settings; intriguing plot twists/startling revelations/captivating climax; emotional manipulation of characters/readers; a dynamic/complex plot; surprising/ convincing conclusion/ resolution, etc.
- an arresting theme; genre-specific elements, etc.
- an authoritative narrative voice; a vivid/innovative writing style; convincing dialogue; comedy/humour/soliloquies, evocative imagery, a compelling use of letters/diaries etc.
- various cinematic and/or dramatic techniques such as: costumes; set design; camera angles, soundtrack/special effects, etc. Etc.

THEME OR ISSUE (1)

B Theme or Issue

1. (a) Identify a theme or issue you studied on your comparative course. Discuss what your study of this theme or issue in one text on your comparative course revealed to you about yourself. Develop your response with reference to the text. (30)

Expect candidates to discuss what their study of the theme or issue they identified in one text, on their comparative course, revealed to them about themselves.
Pay particular attention to the quality of the discussion and the development of the response, including the effective use of apt reference to the text.

Mark ex 30 by reference to the criteria for assessment using the breakdown of marks below.

P: Focus and relevance, evidence of critical literacy

In awarding marks for P, consider the following:
- evidence of understanding of the mode Theme or Issue
- focus* on: what studying a theme or issue in one text revealed to you about yourself

C: Sustained focus & relevance/appropriate management and sequencing of ideas/coherence/ apt use of examples, engagement with the text, etc.
L: Language managed and controlled to achieve clear communication throughout/fluency/ quality of expression, etc.
M: Accuracy of mechanics Etc.

Indicative material:

Studying a theme or issue in a text may:

- reveal our unconscious biases/ prejudices/preconceived ideas/paradoxical behaviour, etc.
- help us to better understand ourselves; emotionally/ spiritually/psychologically, etc.
- reveal the need/create a desire to: shift our perspective/broaden our horizons/expand our frame of reference; question our values/choices/privilege, etc.
- bring previously latent interests/personal passions/concerns etc. to light
- cause us to question/appreciate important/surprising/disturbing aspects of our existence/ identity/personality/humanity, etc. Etc.

(b) With reference to the same theme or issue discussed above, compare what your study of this theme or issue in each of two other comparative texts revealed to you about yourself. Develop your response with reference to your chosen texts. (40)

Expect candidates to compare what their study of their chosen theme or issue, in each of two other comparative texts, revealed to them about themselves.
Pay particular attention to the quality of the comparative writing and to the development of the response, including the effective use of apt reference to the texts.

Mark ex 40 by reference to the criteria for assessment using the breakdown of marks below.

P: Focus and relevance, evidence of critical literacy

In awarding marks for P, consider the following:
- evidence of understanding of the mode Theme or Issue
- focus* on: what studying a theme or issue in each of two other comparative texts revealed to candidates about themselves
- evidence of effective comparison within the mode Theme or Issue

C: Sustained focus & relevance/appropriate management and sequencing of ideas/coherence/ sustained comparative focus/apt use of examples, engagement with texts, etc.
L: Language managed and controlled to achieve clear communication throughout/fluency/ quality of expression, use of comparative language, etc.
M: Accuracy of mechanics Etc.

Candidates are not required to make comparative links with the text discussed in part (a). However, they may choose to refer in an explicit or implicit way to the points made in their answer to part (a).

THEME OR ISSUE (2)

2. Compare the extent to which tension or conflict is used to explore or develop the same theme or issue in each of at least two texts on your comparative course. Develop your response with reference to your chosen texts. (70)

Expect candidates to compare the extent to which tension or conflict is used to explore or develop the same theme or issue in each of at least two comparative texts.
Answers should be developed with reference to at least two texts.
Pay particular attention to the quality of the comparative writing and to the development of the response, including the effective use of apt reference to the texts.

Mark ex 70 by reference to the criteria for assessment using the breakdown of marks below.

P: Focus and relevance, evidence of critical literacy, etc.

In awarding marks for P, consider the following:
- evidence of understanding of the mode Theme or Issue
- focus* on: the extent to which tension or conflict is used to explore or develop the same theme or issue in at least two comparative texts
- evidence of effective comparison within the mode Theme or Issue

C: Sustained focus & relevance/appropriate management and sequencing of ideas/coherence/ sustained comparative focus/apt use of examples, engagement with texts, etc.
L: Language managed and controlled to achieve clear communication throughout/fluency/ quality of expression, use of comparative language, etc.
M: Accuracy of mechanics Etc.

Indicative material:

- a character's internal conflict can be central to the exploration of a theme or issue
- tensions between characters can be exploited to deepen the exploration/development of a theme or issue
- conflict at a societal level can provide insights into important aspects of a theme or issue
- a theme or issue may be explored through the factors that fuel conflict or tension
- the resolution/or failure to resolve conflict or tension can be used to provide insights into a thematic concern Etc.

UNSEEN POEM

Section III Poetry (70 marks)

Candidates must answer A – Unseen Poem and B – Prescribed Poetry

A UNSEEN POEM (20 marks) Answer either Question 1 or Question 2.

GENERAL

'Students should be able to… read poetry conscious of its specific mode of using language as an artistic medium.' (DES English Syllabus, 4. 5. 1)

Note that responding to the unseen poem is an exercise in aesthetic reading. It is especially important, in assessing the responses of the candidates, to guard against the temptation to assume a 'correct' reading of the poem. Reward the candidates' awareness of the patterned nature of the language of poetry, its imagery, its sensuous qualities, and its suggestiveness.

1. (a) What impression of Bridget does Moya Cannon convey in the above poem? Support your response with reference to the poem. (10)

Candidates should explain the impression of Bridget the poet conveys in the poem "Imbolc". Pay attention to the quality of the response and the use of apt reference to the poem.

B PRESCRIBED POETRY (50 marks)

GENERAL

"Students at Higher Level will be required to study a representative selection from the work of eight poets: a representative selection would seek to reflect the range of a poet's themes and interests and exhibit his/her characteristic style and viewpoint. Normally the study of at least six poems by each poet would be expected." (DES English Syllabus, 6.3)

Note that, in the case of each poet, the candidates have the freedom of choice in relation to the poems studied.

Note that there is not a finite list of any 'poet's themes and interests'.

Note that, in responding to the question set on any given poet, the candidates must refer to poem/s they have studied but they are not required to refer to any specific poem/s, nor are they expected to discuss or refer to all the poems they have chosen to study.

In each of the questions in Prescribed Poetry the underlying nature of the task is the invitation to the candidates to engage with the poems themselves.

Appendix 3

REASONABLE ACCOMMODATIONS

Candidates presenting for examination with the aid of a scribe or a recording device or a spell-check enabled word processor and other candidates who have been granted an exemption in accordance with the State Examination Commission's RACE manual will have all parts of their examination in English assessed except spelling and written punctuation elements.

In assessing the work of these candidates, a modified marking scheme will apply as follows:

Clarity of Purpose	30% (to be assessed)
Coherence of delivery	30% (to be assessed)
Efficiency of Language (including grammar)	30% (to be assessed)
Spelling and Written Punctuation	10% (not to be assessed)

In using Discrete Criteria, consult the Assessment Grade Grid (Appendix 2) and apply the first three criteria.

Single Text marks, for example, will be applied by awarding marks for PCL:

21 P 19
21 C 16
21 L 17
52

This means, in effect, that these candidates will be assessed in all questions out of 90% of the marks available for the question.

Marks awarded for each question on Paper 1 and Paper 2 will be transferred to the script cover grid of each paper and totalled. As these totals were arrived at on the basis of a 90% application of the available marks, a mark that can be converted into a grade is arrived at by dividing the total for each paper by 9, and adding these marks to the original total in order to achieve a grand total for that paper.

Example:

Total for Paper 1	=	115
Divide by 9	=	12
Grand Total	=	127

Fractions of marks are to be rounded down to the nearest whole mark.

In using Combined Criteria, the following will apply:

Questions valued at 40 marks are assessed out of 36 marks
Questions valued at 30 marks are assessed out of 27 marks
Questions valued at 20 marks are assessed out of 18 marks
Questions valued at 10 marks are assessed out of 9 marks

Combined Criteria - Grade Grid

	H1	H2	H3	H4	H5	H6	H7	H8
36 marks	36 - 33	29	26	22	18	15	11	10 - 0
27 marks	27 - 25	22	19	17	14	11	9	8 - 0
18 marks	18 - 17	15	13	11	9	8	6	5 - 0
9 marks	9	8	7	6	5	4	3	2 - 0

Appendix 4

MISREADING OF INSTRUCTIONS RELATING TO QUESTION CHOICE

CANDIDATE ANSWERS QUESTION A AND B FROM THE SAME TEXT

- Mark both attempts out of full marks.
- Disallow the lower mark.

CANDIDATE ANSWERS 2 OR MORE QUESTION As AND 1 QUESTION B (or vice versa)

- Mark all the attempts.
- Allow the Question B to stand and the highest Question A from a different text.

CANDIDATE ANSWERS ALL THE QUESTION As AND QUESTION Bs

- Mark all the attempts.
- Award the highest combination.

THERE IS NO ATTEMPT AT SHAKESPEARE

- Mark the Single Text answer on a non-Shakespearean text as per the marking scheme.
- Mark the comparative answer as per the marking scheme.
- Implement one of the following, as appropriate:

In the case of a two-part (30/40 mark) question

disallow the mark awarded for the answer to Question 1.(a)

OR

disallow 50% of the mark awarded for the answer to Question 1.(b), rounding down to the nearest whole number

In the case of a single-part 70-mark question

disallow one third of the mark awarded for this comparative answer, rounded down to the nearest whole number, regardless of whether the candidate has answered using two or three texts in their response.

N.B Award the marks either to the answer on the Single Text or the adjusted marks awarded to the comparative answer, whichever provides the candidate with the best outcome.

THE USE OF AN INVALID TEXT/ THE USE OF AN INCORRECT COMBINATION OF TEXTS IN COMPARATIVE STUDY

- Mark the comparative answer as per the marking scheme.
- Implement one of the following, as appropriate:

In the case of a two-part (30/40 mark) question

If a candidate uses an invalid text in answering Question 1. (a), disallow the mark awarded for this answer

OR

If the candidate uses an invalid text in answer to Question 1. (b), disallow 50% of the mark awarded for this answer, rounding down to the nearest whole number

N.B. Award the valid marks that provide the candidate with the best outcome.

In the case of a single-part 70-mark question

disallow one third of the mark awarded for this Comparative answer, rounded down to the nearest whole number, regardless of whether the candidate has answered using two or three texts in their response.

One or more of the above procedures may be applied, as appropriate.
